(3) Lead to predictable inferences c. Creates a dominant impression: the outcome of effective description Thus, descriptive language attempts to create a verbal equivalent of the material world or the emotional world by providing words that mean the same thing to both writer and reader.

Descriptive Catalogue (1809) The Descriptive Catalogue of 1809 is a description of, and prospectus for, an exhibition by William Blake of a number of his own illustrations for various topics, but most notably including a set of illustrations to Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, this last being a response to a collapsed contract with dealer Robert Cromek.
